

Dear Parents,

I can't believe how quickly the summer term flies by and with the two consecutive Bank Holiday weekends it has been hard to know what day is which at the moment. However, I have enjoyed spending so much time exploring Milford Infants these last two weeks. I have had children show me the pond area, help me find the field and the impressive library. It is lovely to meet children who are proud of their school and happy to show it off!

I have also been busy liaising with your new Headteacher and ensuring that I keep her up to date with all the things that need to be done at this busy time of year. She came for another visit last week and we have a few more lined up as we work together to ensure there is a smooth handover during the Summer holidays.

Next week, I will find myself missing Milford Infants quite a lot as I head off to Somerset with my Year 6 pupils from Pirbright, however I will be in constant contact with the school and the leadership team so please don't worry!

Have a wonderful weekend and don't forget to come to school on MONDAY!

More fun in Year 1!

From Coronation picnics to Van Gogh's Sunflowers.

We have been very busy this term! The children have been delving into The Gruffalo and finishing up their Hot Write this week. They have come up with a collection of wonderful and creative character descriptions to accompany their terrible creatures – we were a bit worried about the ones who ate teachers! ☺

In maths we have introduced grouping, sharing and arrays (the early start of multiplication and division). We have practised making arrays in lots of ways, but our favourite has been making class groups and arrays!

During our art lessons, we learnt about Key Munday. Have a look in the classrooms next time to see our class mural inspired by the artist. The children worked with small and large scale.

We have now started our Van Gogh unit. The children have worked on form and tone whilst sketching his famous sunflowers. In the following weeks, we'll also do versions using other media.

Of course we had to be a part of the Coronation. The children did a follow-along portrait of the king, then worked together as a class to create a HUGE portrait. Their faces when it was all put together was a delight! We didn't stop there, as with any British event, we needed cucumber sandwiches and scones! The children set to work cutting, buttering and ~~jammin'~~ to prepare for our class picnic.

Science this term is bean-tastic! The bean and sunflower seeds the children have planted have started sprouting and bringing their learning to life. They have been checking on their beans as they walk into school each day. Over by the field we have been preparing our allotment beds. We have a selection of herbs and plants for the children to plant and watch grow over the term. They have been loving the chance to learn outside and observe the seasonal change.

Thank you again to all our parent helpers that come in. The children always love it!
